This list has been compiled as a service of the Office of Disability Support Services, CUA, and is not an endorsement of any individual or organization. Inquiry is advised regarding fees and services, examiner credentials, test instruments used, and time frame for the final reporting of results. When seeking insurance coverage, ask your representative about coverage for psychological and/or neurological testing (not learning disability or ADD) and who needs to administer the testing or make referral.

Please be aware that many practitioners do not accept insurance, but some provide forms that may be submitted to the insurance company for reimbursement. Many insurance companies do not cover LD testing, however.
